This is to register a negative opinion on the proposed Microsoft settlement.

Most non-Microsoft employees would agree, that as long as any one company retains Microsoft's current monopoly-scale market share in any one of the following industry sectors:

- 1) Office Productivity Suites
- 2) Operating Systems
- 3) Internet Software (Explorer, IIS)
- 4) Programming Languages (Visual Studio Suite)

...That company will, under any marginally competent CEO, be able to quickly re-leverage monopoly control of the entire computer industry.

For more detailed commentary on the more egregious ways in which the current proposed settlement is completely ineffective, please refer to www.kegel.com/remedy/letter.html.
